

Dear members of Eiline Foundation:

It is June and I participated in entrance examination for high school not long ago. The result comes out now, and perhaps you will feel not particularly satisfied, but I want to tell you: I've tried my efforts and this is my harvest. I feel good though there are many problems in the exam such as careless, panic, time disarrangement, etc.. Anyhow, I realize my dream by my own efforts and I am accepted by my expect school—the Fifth High School of Fuling. I do not live up to your expectations as well as the teachers', parents' and classmates'.

I really want to sincerely say “Thanks!” to you. You have always supported and encouraged me to study. Whenever I encounter difficulties when learning, I always think of your love and my parents' fervent expectations, which are the unremitting powers pushing me go ahead.

You personally came to my school to visit me in the past three semesters, which always cheered me on. But I did not see you in this semester, to be frank, which let me down. But I know you have not forgotten me and maybe you are so busy that you cannot come. Is that right?

Thank you for supporting, funding and encouraging. I also want to say thank you for my family, because you lighten the burden for them and help me complete my junior high school learning.

Best Wishes!

Yours sincerely,

Li Songqin
